Jordan's Firing of Gen. Glubb Omen of War

LONDON (AP)—The British press said today Jordan's ouster of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb might swing the whole Middle East power balance against the West and touch off another Arab-Israeli war.

British papers expressed grave concern over the turn of events as the famed commander of the crack Arab Legion headed for London after his abrupt dismissal by Jordan's young King Hussein.

The influential Times of London labeled the ouster a "studied affront" by Hussein and declared it was "the most sinister event which has occurred in the Middle East since the Egyptian purchase of arms from the Communists."

Whatever the immediate motive for the Jordanian government's sudden removal of Glubb Pasha, the Times added, "the net effect must be increased uncertainty in the Middle East."

Informed sources in Amman said Hussein acted under strong anti-Western nationalist pressure. His government intended to displace the dismissal was not designed to affect Jordan's friendly relations with Britain, but it caused apprehension both in London and Washington.

The Times said Glubb's dismissal raised the point whether Britain should continue paying nine million pounds (25 million dollars) a year to subsidize the Arab Legion.

"It would be quite illogical to go on supporting a force that is intended for use in local Middle Eastern adventures or to become merely an accessory to the Russians in arming Arab against Jew," the paper declared.

Nixon Object of Much Discussion

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, 43, and an unusually active vice president—can't help feeling self-conscious. At this moment he doesn't know whether the Republicans will pick him to run again.

But he has plenty of time—between now and his party's convention next August—to work to keep his job and wonder what, if anything, he's done wrong.

He has worked hard for the Republican party—and for himself, of course, since he is ambitious—and for President Eisenhower, who has repeatedly praised him.

He has strong Republican supporting Congress and among state chairmen and national committee men. But there is some Republican sentiment for ditching him. He has been a controversial figure—certainly among Democrats.

When the time came for Eisenhower to say he'd run again—as it did Wednesday—He praised Nixon on once more but declined to say whether he wanted his vice president as a running mate again in 1956. He will wait until the convention, he said.

Eisenhower knows that because of his health the voters this year will give solemn thought to the vice president.

Those weren't the things which turned the Democrats' fury against him. It was the way he charged them with being "soft" on communism and with letting Communists penetrate the government.

Truman apparently despises him. Last November Truman was quoted—but later denied using profanity—as saying "I don't like the ——— and I don't care who knows it."

Last Feb. 3 Truman exploded hardest. He accused Nixon of having called him a traitor. Nixon on Feb. 13 denied he had called Truman a traitor or the Democratic party the party of treason. Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said he'd give $1,000 to charity if Truman could prove Nixon called him a traitor.

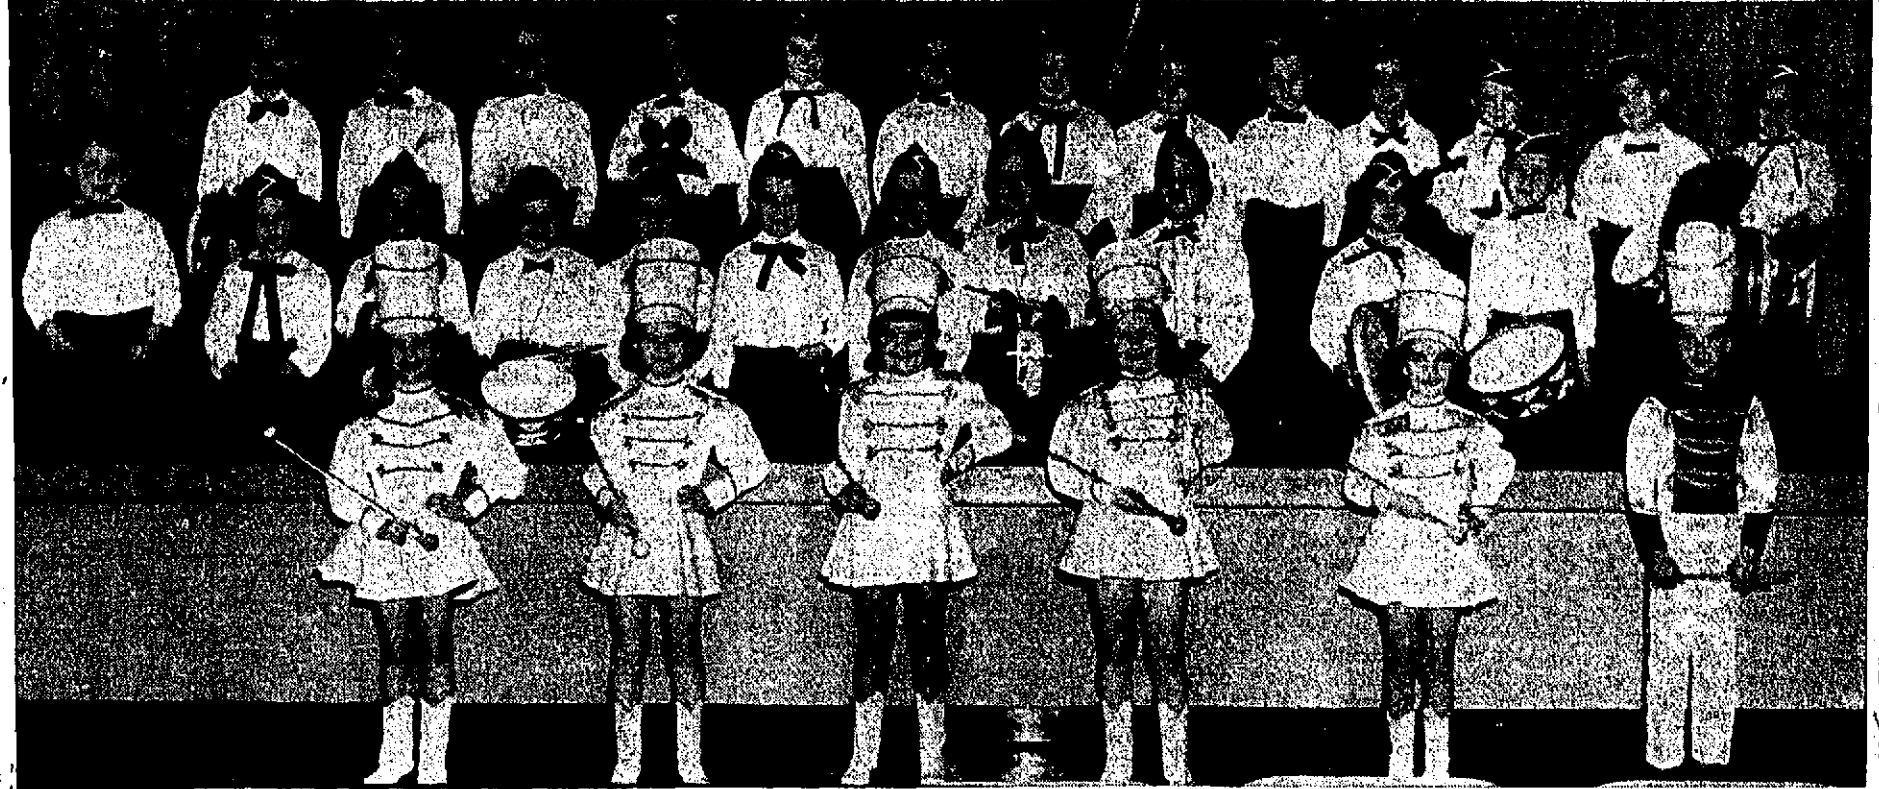

Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said Hall was "splitting hairs" and trying to "clean up" Nixon for the 1956 campaign. He didn't show where Nixon had actually called Truman a traitor.

But he said Nixon tried to give that impression and accused him of being the "leading practitioner of a cruel and malignant political weapon—the not-quite-libelous smear."

Without calling them traitors to their country, Nixon once did use the word in speaking of Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and 1952 Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson. On Oct. 27, 1952, he said those three men were:

"Traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats are outraged by the Truman-Acheson-Stevenson

Brookwood's First Grade Band Plays at Many School Programs

Mrs. Horace Fuller's first grade band at Brookwood School is called on quite frequently to play at various school programs and the picture above tells you why. Besides sporting classy uniforms the youngsters make good music. The band is directed by Mrs. Fuller with the aid of Mrs. Elmer Brown, principal.

Second Row: David Hunter, Sandra Gibson, Jerry Monroe, Allen Monte, Ann Mitchell, Ken Rogers, Mitchell Atkins, Larry Don Wright, Buddy Burke, Janis McClellan, Sidney Hollis.

GOP's Hopeful of Sweeping Full Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans confident of winning with President Eisenhower focused their strategy for 1956 today on sweeping congressional candidates to victory with him.

The strategy looks a little into the future, beyond the current two-party sparring over Eisenhower's second-term bid and his health, and beyond current Republican uncertainty over a vice presidential nominee.

The GOP campaign planning will crystallize in more detailed form at a party powwow of members of the national committee, state chairmen and Republican Senate and House members. Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall says it will be called soon, probably in Washington.

Such a session is bound to produce more talk about whether Vice President Nixon should again be second man on the GO Pickett. Hall forecast it will again be Eisenhower and Nixon. So did Sen. Knowland of California, a political rival of the vice president in their home state.

Announcing his own availability, Eisenhower declined to say Wednesday whether he wants Nixon as a running mate, he said he will wait to see what the GOP convention does in August. At the same time, as he has often done before, he praised Nixon highly.

Jordan Kicks Out Builder of the Army

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, famed British "Glubb Pasha" who created Jordan's crack army, has been dismissed by King Hussein.

The King and Premier Samir el Rifai's government acted to satisfy strong anti-Western elements demanding that the army—the Arab Legion—be put under complete Arab control.

There was no immediate word how Glubb's dismissal from the post of chief of the army general staff would affect the nearly eight million pounds $22,400,000 which Britain pays Jordan annually for support of the legion. The subsidy constitutes more than half the government's budget.

The dismissal ended 30 years of Middle East service for the tough, wiry little 59-year-old soldier who learned the ways of the Arabs in camelback and around the desert camps and built the Arab world's best army from scratch. His enemies called him "The Uncrowned King of Jordan."

Glubb left by plane with his family for London today. An official announcement said his dismissal took effect yesterday.

The announcement said he would be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Radi Ounabb. To further meet the opposition demands that the army be "Arabized," Hussein also dismissed two senior British officers who had been serving with Glubb.

Extreme Arab nationalists long had opposed Glubb. Opposition to him took a sudden upsurge after the British late last year tried to get Jordan to join the Western-sponsored Baghdad Pact, setting off a violent reaction from Egypt, Saudi Arabia and other opponents of that alliance.

Series of Home Demonstration Leaders Training Meets Held Here During the Past Week

A series of home demonstration leader, training meetings have been held during the past week. Tuesday morning, February 28, at the home management leader training meeting held in the Hempstead County courtroom Mrs. Carl Brown, county home management leader, and Mrs. William Schooley, assistant home management leader, gave a series of demonstrations showing ways and means of making housekeeping easier. Some good ideas were shown.

Leaders attending this training meeting were: Mrs. Wendell Stone, Mrs. Herman Rhodes, Mrs. Cloyd Bittick and Mrs. Gordon J. Prescott, McCaskill, Mrs. Carl Brown and Mrs. I. L. Ward, Sweet Home, Mrs. Roy Seewald, Mrs. William Schooley and Mr. Haller McCorkle, Victory; Mrs. C. Beck, Mrs. Johnny McRoy, Mrs. Denver Goynes, Centerville, Mrs. William Schooley and Mrs. Otto Roberts, Melrose; Mrs. Roy Rogers and Mrs. Joe England, Shover Springs and Mrs. Lester Kent, Liberty Hill.

Miss Helen Robinson, Extension Health Education Specialist, conducted a training meeting for the HDC health leader on Wednesday morning, February 29, in the Hempstead County courtroom. Miss Robinson led a discussion on the "20 common danger signals of diseases." This discussion will be repeated by the health leaders during their March HDC meetings.

Leaders attending were Mrs. O. V. Steadman, Baker; Mrs. Sam England, Green Laster; Mrs. J. F. Mangum, Melrose; Mrs. William Schooley and Mrs. Jack Sumpter, Victory; Mrs. Joe England, Shover Springs; Mrs. Hugh Gilbert, Columbus; Mrs. Irvin Betts, Liberty Hill; Mrs. Carl Richards, Jr., Centerville; and Mrs. R. G. Shuffield, McCaskill.

Mrs. Lorraine B. Wylie, home demonstration agent, assisted with all these training meetings.

On Tuesday afternoon, February 28, in the Hope City Hall Karl F. Munson, Extension Community Activities Specialist, conducted a training meeting for the HDC recreational leaders. Mr. Munson presented the "4-S Tonic of Recreation," which includes the (1) starter, which is some type of recreation at the beginning of a meeting as the crowd gathers. This type of recreation is designed to get the crowd acquainted as they gather at the meeting place; (2) the stretcher, which is designed for a short break or stretch during the meeting; (3) the socializer, which is recreation at the close of a meeting; and (4) the signature which might be a song pledge or friendship circle that announces the meeting is over.

Mr. Munson also explained the Rural Community Improvement program, co-sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, pointing out that making a good community better means better homes on better farms for a better community.

Leaders attending this training meeting were: Mrs. Wendell Stone, Mrs. Herman Rhodes, Mrs. Cloyd Bittick and Mrs. Gordon J. Prescott, McCaskill, Mrs. Carl Brown and Mrs. I. L. Ward, Sweet Home, Mrs. Roy Seewald, Mrs. William Schooley and Mr. Haller McCorkle, Victory; Mrs. C. Try to Tie Farm Policy to President

By EDWIN B. HAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Democratic senators set out today to tie the Republican farm policies they criticize to President Eisenhower rather than Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who has been one of Benson's most vocal critics, took the initiative yesterday. He told the Senate that he and others may have been unfair to Benson—"a very fine man"—because he said Benson was "only carrying out Eisenhower's orders."

Senators Kerr (D-Okla.) and Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) also said in the debate that Eisenhower should share the responsibility. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) added that "Republican members of Congress had to be sold on the Eisenhower-Benson farm program" at special conferences.

Humphrey, who has held the floor for four days, interrupted his marathon speech today but said he would resume it Monday. The Senate is to start voting on the farm bill next Thursday.

"Some of us have been calling it the Benson farm program but Continued on Page Two

Don't Interfere, Court Orders

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today ordered Pulaski Chancellor Sam Rorex of Little Rock not to interfere with the Arkansas Racing Commission in the granting of permit for West Memphis dog racing to Southland Racing Corp.

The order left the way clear for the commission to grant the Southland franchise at a scheduled meeting tonight unless an appeal is taken this afternoon from an order of Chancellor W. Leon Smith of Blytheville directing the commission to issue the franchise.

The charge came last night as the Democratic presidential aspirant started a five-day campaign swing in Minnesota.

Stevenson told an estimated 400 persons at an AFL-CIO meeting that, despite Republican assurances about what was to be done for labor, nothing has happened.

"The only changes have been in interpretations of the law by members of the National Labor Relations Board," he said. "And these interpretations have resulted in promanagement decisions at a 20-to-1 ratio."

Th. H. Sch. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), co-author of the labor act, himself proposed 17 amendments to it as long ago as 1949. But even his suggestions have not yet been incorporated into law.

Stevenson, introduced by Minnesota's Gov. Freeman, said he was not competing against Sen. Keftauver (D-Tenn.), who also has filed a slate of delegates for the state's March 20 presidential primary.

"I like to think that I am running against the Republicans and that has been going on—and what has not been going on—in Washington," he said.

Before leaving New York City by plane late yesterday, Stevenson said Eisenhower in his television-radio talk Wednesday night "spent 20 minutes...telling the American people not what he is going to do, but rather what he is not going to do."

A formal statement issued by Stevenson continued: "It was amusing to hear him say on his return from another long absence that he has fully performed the duties of the President for the past few weeks."

"While I pray for his good health, I also respect a great officer, which cannot be conducted on a part-time basis."

"All of us felt great sympathy for the President during the period of his illness and accepted the fact that he would be temporarily unable to fully manage the hardest job on earth. Now, however, he evidently proposes to make this condition permanent."

Keating said that in view of President Eisenhower's decision to run again, "we probably won't be able to keep politics out" of such discussions.

But Rep. Celler (D-NY) said the need for such legislation is greater than ever. He predicted a good chance for its passage at this session.

Both also said they do not think Eisenhower's election chances would be affected one way or the other by passage of a temporary succession law.

Time Inopportune, Keating Suggests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) said today it may now be "inopportune" for Congress to debate legislation for a temporary successor to a disabled president.

Keating said that in view of President Eisenhower's decision to run again, "we probably won't be able to keep politics out" of such discussions.

But Rep. Celler (D-NY) said the need for such legislation is greater than ever. He predicted a good chance for its passage at this session.

Both also said they do not think Eisenhower's election chances would be affected one way or the other by passage of a temporary succession law.

Claims GOP Failed to Keep Labor Promise

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says the Republican administration has failed to keep promises it made about changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The charge came last night as the Democratic presidential aspirant started a five-day campaign swing in Minnesota.

Stevenson told an estimated 400 persons at an AFL-CIO meeting that, despite Republican assurances about what was to be done for labor, nothing has happened.

Dulles Sets Off for Far East Visit

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles sets off today on a visit to Asia and the Far East, major front in the cold war.

He hopes on his return later this month to have information which will help him decide whether U.S. foreign policy should be revised to meet the Russian drive for new political and economic influence in the area's underdeveloped countries.

The immediate purpose is his scheduled attendance at the 23rd meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization at Karachi, Pakistan.

He also will visit nine other capitals from New Delhi to Tokyo and confer with a wide range of Asian leaders, including India's Prime Minister Nehru.

The 25,000-mile journey will raise his total travel since he took office three years ago to approximately 300,000 miles.

The trip will be his first to Asia since the Soviets, after he submitted conference last July, launched their political and economic drive to penetrate Asian nations with offers of cooperation and financial aid.

Confusion in Alabama U. Race Case

By BEM PRICE
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The case of Autherine Lucy, Negro student who wants to continue her studies at the all-white University of Alabama, was in a state bordering on total confusion today.

Miss Lucy, 26, was "permanently expelled" by the Board of Trustees of the 125-year-old university at Tuscaloosa at a secret meeting Wednesday night.

The trustees' action came within hours of an order from Federal Judge H. Hobart Grooms ordering her readmission to the university. She had been suspended Feb. 24 after riots on the campus over her presence.

Her attorney Arthur D. Shores, said he had no idea what legal course he would pursue in addition all effort to have the 26-year-old former school teacher readmitted to the university.

Miss Lucy herself was in New York seeking medical attention and "rest, peace and quiet."

She left Birmingham yesterday in company with Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The NAACP has been backing her efforts over the past 20 months to be admitted to the university.

In expelling Miss Lucy from the university, the trustees accused her of making "false, defamatory, impertinent and scandalous charges" against university officials.

The expulsion resolution said, "No educational institution can maintain necessary disciplinary action if any student, regardless of race, guilty of the conduct of Autherine J. Lucy be permitted to remain."

Byrnes Hints at New States' Rights Party

By The Associated Press
Adlai E. Stevenson bore down yesterday on the issue of President Eisenhower's health. He ranked that Republican administration for what he called its "methods of propaganda, procrastination and postponement."

While the rival candidates of the Democratic presidential campaign followed separate campaign trails in Minnesota and New Hampshire, Eisenhower's name was entered formally in the California and Wisconsin primaries.

From two quarters, time, the party stirrings. Some leaders set in motion a plan designed to throw the November election to the House of Representatives. The object: election of a "conservative" to the White House.

In South Carolina former Gov. James F. Byrnes indicated a Southern states' rights party may be formed if the Democrats and Republicans pledged "drastic action against the Southern states" in efforts to court minority voting groups. Byrnes said he wouldn't be a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Chicago in August.

Stevenson told a Minnesota audience he understood the condition under which Eisenhower agreed to a second term—that the special arrangements that were made to accommodate him during his illness and convalescence must be made permanent.

Stevenson, who lost to Eisenhower in 1952, said that to deprive the functions and authority of the presidency "on a scale we have not known in our time presents an issue that is not the personal one of the President's health, but the public matter of how the office of president can and should be conducted."

Keftauver lashed out at Eisenhower administration policies of performance at home and abroad. With its methods of "ganging up" he said, at the N.H. "It has waited until the year in office, and under the pressure of the coming election, before pretending to fulfill its campaign promises."

Ike's Medical Treatments Are Reduced

By MICHAEL J. O'NEIL
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower is still being given a drug to safeguard against blood-clotting, but the frequency of doses has been reduced.

Dr. Howard M. Snyder, his physician, told the United Press "Anti-coagulant is no longer administered daily but as required to maintain the desired length of coagulation (clotting) time."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, chief consultant in the President's case, told a House subcommittee on Feb. 15 that the President at that time was taking drugs every day. His testimony was made public Wednesday.

He said still giving the President anti-coagulants, every day, the famed Board of specialists testified, "because this anti-coagulant helps to prevent the blood from clotting."

A clot in a coronary artery caused the coronary thrombosis which Mr. Eisenhower suffered Sept. 24. It is accepted practice to use anti-coagulants immediately after an attack, but all authorities have not agreed on their prophylactic use for long periods after ward.

White said the decision to keep the President on the drugs was based on a five-year study made at Ford hospital in Detroit. He reported that the study showed "that the mortality is only one-half of one-third after five years in the patients who continue to take anti-coagulants after coronary thrombosis than those who don't."

White said he would not recommend use of the drugs in all cases, partly because they require close medical supervision, and that available to the President.

It is necessary to "make sure the regular tests that the blood is thinned out too much, creating the danger of internal bleeding."

Little Liz, the 12-year-old daughter of President Eisenhower, is still being given a drug to safeguard against blood-clotting, but the frequency of doses has been reduced.

Weisenberger-Reed
Wedding Vows Pledged
In a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church February 28 at 3 p. m. Miss Frances Weisenberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Stewart Weisenberger, became the bride of Charles Christopher Reed, Jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Reed of Nashville, Tenn. Rev. V. D. Kealey officiated at the nuptial rites beneath the Gothic arches entwined with bleached huckleberry.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed before an altar flanked by seven-branched candelabra and decorated with white gladioli and stock in floor baskets entwined with plumosa fern. The family pews were marked with white gladioli and greenery tied with white satin ribbon.

Pre-nuptial music, provided by Dr. J. W. Branch at the organ included Schubert's "Serenade," "At Dawning," "Ave Maria," and "O Promise Me," which was played as the mothers entered. Dr. Branch accompanied Homer Jones as he sang "Because" and "Through the Years."

The traditional Lohengrin Wedding March was used as the processional, and Mr. Jones sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the ceremony. "Traum-erie" by Schumann was played while the couple exchanged vows as they knelt on white satin pillows at the Chancel rail.

Lighting the tapers during the musical program were the groom's cousins, Becky Utley of Nashville and Robbyn Organ of Shreveport, Louisiana. Taper girls were attired in mint green net gowns over taffeta, modeled from the bride's. Mint green carnation wristlets accentuated their outfits.

Serving as bearers for the prayer pillows were Master Al Weisenberger, brother of the bride, and Little Miss Virginia Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Lynn of Little Rock, and young cousin of the bride. Virginia wore a floor-length dress of pastel green net over taffeta with a pale green carnation bandeau in her hair. Al was dressed in a navy blue suit with a white carnation boutonniere.

Proceeding the bride down the aisle were her maid of honor, Audrey Light, and bridesmaids - Polly Compton, Nell Cassidy, Alice Gilbert, of Emmet and Dolores Huckabee, the bride's cousin from Houston, Texas. All were identically gownned in ballerina-length models of white taffeta with bouffant double-net overskirts. Styled with long torsos and low V-necks, the dresses were patterned after the bride's gown. Short white gloves complemented elbow length sleeves sheered to the shoulder. Carrying bouquets of white asters on greenery from which fell white satin streamers the attendants wore single strand pearl chokers, gifts from the bride.

single strand pearl choker and a voluminous finger-tip illusion veil of double tulle which fell from a tiny Juliet cap cherished with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet, accented by a cascade of satin streamers, tied at regular intervals in lovers' knots interspersed with lily of the valley, consisted of white fringed carnations and maline centered with a white orchid.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a gray linen lace over satin intensified with a wide cummerbund of gray satin. To complete her costume, she wore elbow length white gloves and charcoal accessories. At her shoulder she pinned a purple orchid.

Mrs. Reed's ensemble consisted of an ice blue frock of lace and pure silk. Her accessories were navy, and her shoulder corsage was a violet purple-throated orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the Hope Country Club. Receiving with the young couple were the parents and members of the bridal party.

The bride's table, laid with white net over green plma, held the triple-tiered white wedding cake embossed with varied sizes of wedding bells and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The young couple cut their first piece of wedding cake with a family heirloom - an English hunting knife bearing an ivory handle inlaid with gold. Placed at corners of the bride's table, the bouquets of the bridesmaids served as the table decorations to complement the attractive center arrangement of silver candelholders with glowing tapers. Floor baskets of wedding flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the club house.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. John L. Wilson, Jr., who presented them to the reception line. Miss Shirley Terrell, of Murfreesboro, and Miss Velda Haynie, of Altheimer, presided at the bride's cake; and Miss Sara June Effer, of Washington, ladled the punch. Other members of the house party were Miss Kay Kent, of Patmos, Miss Mildred Burton, of Benton, Mrs. Allen Daws, of North Little Rock, and Mrs. Charles Gough, Miss Martha Ann Mitchell, of Prescott, who dispensed hospitality were Mrs. Curtis Lynn, aunt of the bride from Little Rock, Mrs. Nella Mae Butler of Arkadelphia, also an aunt of the bride and Mrs. McDowell Turner.

For travel the bride chose a navy bengaline wool suit with white lined Puritan collar and cuffs accented with petite bows of navy. At her shoulder she pinned the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Both the bride and the groom are graduates of Hope High School. Miss Weisenberger attended the University of Arkansas, at Fayetteville, and Henderson State Teachers College, at Arkadelphia, where she was a member of Alpha Psi Omega, National honorary dramatic fraternity. Mr. Reed is a graduate of Ouachita College, at Arkadelphia. He is now employed in the personnel department of engineering at Convair Aircraft Company, in Ft. Worth, Texas.

After a short honeymoon the couple will reside at 2724 Westbrook Avenue, Ft. Worth, Texas. Out of town guests in attendance were:

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Robins, and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Robins of Ozan; Mrs. Emma Monzingo, Miss Gloria Monzingo, Mrs. Cora Baker Perry Reed, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Organ and daughter Robyn of Shreveport, Mrs. Henry Ferguson, Mrs. Charles Beane, Mrs. Jess Hill, Mrs. Jim Latimer, Mrs. Alene Clegg, Mrs. A. It's really the Eisenhower farm program," Humphrey said. "The responsibility for this farm program that is bankrupting American agriculture should be put right where it belongs, and that's at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave."

That's the street address of the White House.

"The remedy is for the Public to register their votes this year to fire the man who ought to have fired Benson," he added.

After four days of the Senate debate, Humphrey joined Sen. Anderson (D-Minn.) last night in a CBS-TV discussion of farm problems arranged as a reply to a similar appearance by Benson last week.

Humphrey contended that with farm prices falling, many younger farmers are being forced off the farms. "If this continues," he added, "you are going to have an old, old farm population" or a system of privately collectivized farms. The latter, he said, "may very well threaten the stability of our democracy."

Anderson said he agrees with Benson on "variable price supports and a soil bank," but he criticized Benson's administration of recent farm programs.

"The present farm bill debate is a waste of time," Anderson said, unless farm surpluses are rapidly disposed of and real controls applied to expanding agricultural production.

Following the business session conducted by the chairman, Mrs. A. R. Underwood, the hostess served a dessert plate with coffee.

DIVORCED AFTER 56 YEARS
LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Superior Judge Burnett Wolfson granted William A. Linsky, 81, a divorce from his wife, Fannie, 79 yesterday to end a 56-year marriage.

"Don't be in a hurry to marry again," the judge cautioned Linsky.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stockton, left Tuesday for Ophelm Air Force Base, Montana where he will be stationed.

Mrs. J. V. McMahan, Mrs. Mary B. Smith and Mrs. J. B. Franks motored to Texarkana Tuesday for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Brozie Haynie had as their Tuesday guests Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Roberts of Gurdon.

Mrs. Blain Hays returned Tuesday from Little Rock where she visited Mrs. Joe Hunter of Fort Smith where she was the guest of her son, Don Hays.

Mrs. Ernest Cox of Fulton spent Tuesday in Prescott.

Mrs. Brice Stewart was a Monday visitor in Little Rock.

Friends of Mrs. C. F. Pittman will regret that she is seriously ill at the Cora Donnell Hospital.

Coy Cummings of DeQueen visited his mother, Mrs. W. B. Cummings, on Tuesday. Mrs. Cummings is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gene Lee.

BOSTON — Dr. Paul Dudley White, famed heart specialist, on the risk President Eisenhower will take in running for reelection and that of many other cardiologists, the risk that the President has consented to take is a reasonable one.

"From my own experience and that of many other cardiologists, the risk that the President has consented to take is a reasonable one."

WASHINGTON — Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) on aircraft company and defense contract stock market speculation: "Gambling on this country's defense is like war profiteering."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) on his charges that Agriculture Secretary Earl T. Benson engaged the services of a public relations firm named as a co-conspirator in an anti-trust indictment: "Things have come to a mighty low state of affairs when a secretary of agriculture supposedly representing and fighting for farm people has to have public relations experts engaged to 'sell him' farmers."

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Samuel Delano Mosby, 20, self-instructed burglar, on his list of things to do for a "perfect crime": "Wear gloves, leave no fingerprints; Case the place to see no watchman around; drop paper with someone else's name to mislead police; be sure and have a flashlight; know what's inside the window to step on."

Secretary of War Anthony Head lecturing Laborite George Wigg in a House of Commons debate: "When Mr. Wigg is on the front bench he should be more restrained in making an ass of himself."

HOLLYWOOD — Comedian Red Skelton on a possible invitation by the Soviets to make a trip to Russia: "They've brave people, inviting me to their country. If I go, I'll never be the same."

CHICAGO — Ralph Bunche, undersecretary of the United Nations, in a statement on "bigoted" whites who "smear" supporters of Negro rights as Communists: "This serves Communist purposes admirably, but it will not deter the Negro."

WASHINGTON — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, on his belief that this country's ability to strike back with devastating force makes it safe from Russian attack: "No nation is going to attempt a war with us with the terrific losses he would have to take."

FLORENCE, S. C. — Negro Leader Clarence Mitchell on Florence, S. C., officials declining to press charges after he refused to use a back entrance at a railroad station: "I hope this means the end of segregation in Florence."

Usually What Brando Wants, Brando Gets

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This week that vastly independent young man Marlon Brando embarks on a new film adventure that will take him to Japan to play a wily Okinawan.

Last year at this time, Brando
was about to win his long-awaited,
long-deserved Academy Award.
He remarked that the film he wanted to do next—he was then called "Doll"—was the John Patrick comedy "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Whatever Marlon wants, Marlon gets. MGM was only too happy to meet his terms in order to sign him for the role David Wayne created on Broadway later played by Burgess Meredith and Larry Parks on the road.

I caught up with Brando before his departure for the Orient. He was lunching at Paramount with George Englund, handsome young producer for Brando's Pennabaker Productions.

"I've been happy about 'Tea-house,'" Brando remarked.
"We've got a fine cast, Delbert Man is a great director, and filming it in Japan should give added value."

"It's a very funny story. But more than that it says something.
It has a lesson in internationality
which I think is available today.
It should help in promoting understanding."

The picture will be filmed at Kyoto, Nara and other locations.
Others in the cast include Glenn Ford as the U. S. military officer, Louis Calhern as his superior, Eddie Albert as the psychiatrist and Harry Morgan as the sergeant.

The actor said MGM artists have devised a fabulous makeup to orientalize him for the picture.
"I wear patches on the eyelids,
face lines and a wig," he said.
"It's really great. I don't think that the makeup men get the credit
they deserve for their contribution to pictures."

Mike spun around from the door-
way. "Chap, in a New Zealand uniform
— a lance corporal — didn't give his name. He was with a rather fat
gentleman. Greek, I suppose. He asked if you'd checked through."

Mike again felt the clammy cold
of fear.
"And the other chap drove by just a few moments ago. Mr.
Soutar."

"Soutar?"
Mike's fist tightened around the pistol in his pocket. He looked through the night to the plane. He could hear the first spitting sounds of its motor turning over to warm up.

A distant sound of approaching motors from the visible sky above.
The sound of the motors above turned. It was a drone and became luder and louder.

Chattering roar as anti-aircraft batteries split the air and white puffs of smoke exploded in the sky after a crisscross of pencil-thin lights darted and probed.

For the first time, Mike Morris-son heard that hideous scream—
the scream of Stukas.

Mike dropped to the floor and covered his ears. The scream tore across the field again. His hands tried to claw through the wooden floor. The dark guard creaked into his and roll to the floor unconscious.

Mike crawled to the door and shoved it open. The airframe was a field of bright orange flames reaching toward the sky. In its light he saw the airplane on the cast burn into searing oblivion.

He crawled back to the prostrate body of the guard. The scream again! A blast rolled him against the wall.

If anybody hopes to learn anything here about her romantic interests (none), any personal eccentricities (none), any headline-making views (none), they're doomed to disappointment.

After spending a pleasant hour
with her, I can positively report that those things she is beautifully restrained to the point of shyness, and wholly dedicated to action and the theater. Having seen her play Roxanne in NBC-TV's production of "Cyrano de Bergerac," I also can report she's just flat, stress.

Born in London in 1931, Miss Bloom was evacuated to this country during World War II and then returned to England. Since she was 15 the theater and movies have been her life. She played the role of the ballet dancer in Charlie Chaplin's last film, "Limelight," and plays the feminine lead
in "Alexander the Great," films widely publicized British release which has not yet been released in this country. Her only live appearance before an American audience was in "Cyrano."

THE STORY: Mike Morrison, an American, has been asked to deliver a document to London by Stergiou, a Greek lawyer, at the time of the German invasion of Greece in 1941. When Mike visits Stergiou again, he finds the lawyer dead, and a British major dying in an office. Mike is told he must deliver the message—he has no choice. The Germans already are seeking him.

Chapter IV

The taxi sped through the slippery streets, jolting to sudden stops and taking turns on ten wheels with a total disregard for life and limb.

The waves of fear slowly subsided in Morrison, but the events of the past hours were blurred as the buildings he sped past. It was still impossible for him to be so clearly. He clung to one thought as he fought off the walls of unconsciousness closing in on him. He had to get to that airplane at Tatol and get as far away from Athens and Greece as he could. It was only this basic instinct of self-preservation that held back the effects of three bottles of Kraxi and the lightning chain of events that had followed.

At 10:45 the taxi screeched to a halt before an entanglement of barbed wire which encompassed
the airfield.

"Put out those headlights," a sentry ordered.

Mike stepped from the cab, paid
the driver and staggered toward the sentry.

"There's a plane for me."
Major—Major Howe-Wilken.

"The guard studied the wavering
Morrison was, indeed, a sorry sight."

"May I see your pass?"

"Pass? Sure—sure—"

The soldier took the card and stepped into the small guard shack and turned a muffled flashlight on it. He returned to Mike, snapped it to attention and peered off a rigid British staff perfection. Mike sighed in relief.

The guard waved into the shack
again and cranked the phone.
"This is Private Edmonds, station
three. Major Howe-Wilken has arrived. Yes, sir, very good, sir."

He hung up.

"Scuse me."

There was a great to-do outside.
The air was filled with the sound of motors. Mike walked to the door and looked to the nearby highway. A long convoy of trucks filled with soldiers ground to a halt.

"What's all that?"

"Troops from the Camp at Kokinia, sir. They're stopping to pick up a detachment from the airport."

"Bloody shame, if you ask me, Major, about us pulling out of Athens. We'd give the Hun a show
if they let us. Oh, forgive me, Major Wilken, but there were some inquiries for you."

Mike spun around from the door-
way. "Chap, in a New Zealand uniform
— a lance corporal — didn't give his
name. He was with a rather fat
gentleman. Greek, I suppose. He asked if you'd checked through."

Vice-President Choice Means More Now

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President
Eisenhower's decision to run again has because of his health-raised questions which will persist up to election day and, if he wins, beyond it.

The questions all revolve around the vice presidency and the possibility that Eisenhower, having had one heart attack, may suffer another which disables or kills him
after his nomination or, if he wins,
after his election.

The voters this year will be aware, more than in any election in history, that in voting for the Republican vice presidential candidate they may be choosing a president.

For the same reason Eisenhower knows that if he picks for his running mate a man unacceptable to a lot of voters, he himself may lose the election.

He has declined to say he wants Vice President Nixon to run with him again, although he again praised Nixon yesterday.

Here are questions raised by Eisenhower's decision to seek re-election:

1. What happens if he should die—after the Republican convention nominates him and a vice presidential candidate—but before election day?

The Republican National Committee, if there's no time for another convention, can by itself nominate another presidential candidate or push the vice presidential candidate up into the No. 1 spot and name another man for vice president.

2. What happens if Eisenhower wins the election Nov. 6 but dies
before the Electoral College meets Dec. 17 to cast its ballots formally naming him as the man who will take office as president?

There's no certain answer. This situation has never arisen before.

This is the problem: On election day you do not vote directly for a president and vice president. You vote for a slate of party electors in each state. Then they meet and elect a president. This has become a formality. The electors always vote for the two men who headed their party's ticket in the election.
But, under the Constitution, they don't have to. They are legally free to vote for anyone.

What then would happen if Eisenhower died between Nov. 6 and
Dec. 17? Probably the Republican National Committee would ask the Republican electors who won through Eisenhower—to elect the successful vice presidential candidate president. Then the com-<
